Across the country, diversity and anti-bias initiatives of all kinds are receiving intense pushback. For education leaders who wish to foster change, it is more important than ever to have access to frameworks and tools to initiate and sustain anti-bias education.

In this webinar for early childhood program leaders, school principals, coaches, mentors, curriculum coordinators, Head Start leaders and administrators, and teacher educators, Louise Derman-Sparks, Debbie LeeKeenan, and John Nimmo will address the current climate of pushback and resistance to anti-bias education in early childhood programs, and present strategies ECE leaders can use to continue their work. The revised and updated second edition of their popular book, Leading Anti-Bias Early Childhood Programs: A Guide to Change, for Change, will be published by Teachers College Press in October 2023.

The authors will be joined in conversation by contributor Karina Rojas, a center director serving a culturally and linguistically diverse early childhood community in West Seattle, Washington.

The webinar will be followed by a Q&A.

Can't make this date? Register anyway—you'll receive a recording of the webinar when available.

Sponsored by Teachers College Press.
